The Institute of Data Science and Artificial Intelligence (DATAI) launches the 2021-2022 DATAI Awards with the objective of rewarding particularly relevant scientific contributions in the field of Data Science and Artificial Intelligence. The prizes awarded under this call recognize originality, innovation and contribution, with the dual goal of encouraging research in this field as well as its dissemination to society.

Award-winning contributions must be pioneering and influential in international research. If the prize is awarded to an application submitted by two or more members of the Institute, only one of them will act as the person responsible of the application.

The awards are intended for DATAI member researchers in any of its modalities, whether full, associated or invited members. DATAI will be mentioned among the authors' affiliations in the contribution, but not in the acknowledgments.
